

Devolution and the Greater London Area - Guidance

Please note: if you live within the greater London Area and want to study at TACC, you may be affected by these changes.

Background

In 2015 to 2016, the government agreed a series of devolution deals between central government and local areas (Mayoral Combined Authorities) (MCAs) in England.

As part of the devolution deals, certain adult education functions, in the Apprenticeships Skills, Children and Learning Act 2009, which are funded by the AEB, have been transferred to 6 MCAs in relation to their respective areas. These functions have been delegated to the Mayor of London under section 39A of the Greater London Authority Act 1999.

The Department for Education will transfer the relevant part of the AEB participation budget to the MCAs and the Mayor of London to undertake the adult education functions. These arrangements are commonly described as 'AEB devolution' and apply from academic year 2019 to 2020; the MCAs and the Mayor of London (acting where appropriate through the Greater London Authority (GLA)) are referred to as 'the devolved authorities'.

As part of their new responsibilities the devolved authorities will need to ensure that learners aged 19 and over in their area, who are eligible for funding, have access to appropriate education and training.

From the 2019 to 2020 academic year, the AEB will be split into devolved and non-devolved budgets. This means that from 1 August 2019, the ESFA will no longer be accountable for administering the AEB in devolved areas. The ESFA will continue to be responsible for funding learners in England that are resident outside of the devolved areas.

Provision for Learners in Devolved Areas

TACC aims to support learners who are resident in devolved areas. Whilst we will be unable to provide learners in these areas with funding, they will still be able to enrol but will need to pay a full cost recovery fee of £12.50 per hour.

However, we understand some learners might not be able to pay these rates, instead, we have provided a list of Colleges within the local area close to Thurrock where learners can access funding for courses:
